From Bulloch Times, Dec. 2, 1915.
A meeting will be held in the court house on the morning of December 11th to consider the proposition of establishing a packing plant at Statesboro, which meeting is being sponsored by the Statesboro Board of Trade.

J. W. Johnston Sr., age 58, was found dead at his home early Tuesday morning; a hundred yards away his wrecked buggy was found upon some fallen trees; evidence that he had died of heart attack.

Two opposing tickets for city council are being voted upon today in the city primary; one ticket has S. Edwin Groover, T. J. Denmark and J. O. Allen, and the other ticket has W. H. Kennedy and J. W. Franklin. (Allen possibly forbid his name to be voted for, thus only five candidates are in the field.)

BACKWARD LOOK

TEN YEARS AGO

From Bulloch Times, Dec. 5, 1935.
Thirty odd members from Landrum Masonic Lodge, Savannah, assisted in conferring the master's degree at Ogeechee lodge Tuesday evening; supper was served by ladies of the members' families.

Artley Construction Company will build the Bulloch County Hospital provided the modified bids now before the board of county commissioners and state WPA administration are approved; their figure was $85,000; other bids ran as high as $15,000.

May has been set for February 5th; Date for county Democratic primary for entries to be held January 4th; candidates seeking re-election already announced are: J. E. McCracken, ordinary; P. L. Williams, clerk; John P. Lee, tax collector; W. W. Deasch, tax collector; H. P. Womack, school superintendent; J. E. McCracken, ordinary; P. L. Williams, clerk; John P. Lee, tax collector; W. W. Deasch, tax collector; H. P. Womack, school superintendent.

At the same time, Gilbert Cone, standing for re-election, was retained for another term. Roy Beaver, of the quartet offering for election, was defeated.

The vote was comparatively light, considering the possibility of interest in a city election, the total being 489. Woodcock was high man, receiving 430; Bowen received 417, Cone 401 and Beaver 203. Added together these figures would reveal a total of only 484 votes cast, which discrepancy is accounted for by the fact that the ballots were marked improperly.

The two new councilmen succeed Glenn Jennings and Thad Morris, who did not offer for re-election. Neither of the new men had previous political experience, though both are recognized as qualified public spirited business men, worthy of the responsibilities to which they have been elected.

Mr. Woodcock, who led the ticket, has long been an outstanding business man, a leader in insurance circles and business generally. Mr. Bowen, operating the Bowen Furniture Company, has likewise established a record as a successful citizen, and has only recently returned from more than two years of service in the Navy. The two new members will assume their duties at the first meeting of the council in January. At that time also the city administration in the various departments will be announced, the new members of council having taken on their various committee responsibilities.

EMERGENCY LOANS OPEN TO FARMERS

Aid Is Extended To Those Who May Otherwise Fail To Finance Their Farms

Emergency crop loans and emergency feed loans for 1946 are now available to farmers in Bulloch county. Applications for these loans are being received at Statesboro, second floor of Bulloch County Bank building, by Henry B. Burnside, field supervisor of the Emergency Crop and Feed Loan division of the Farm Credit Administration. This early opening of the loan program in Bulloch county is for the benefit of those eligible farmers who need financial assistance to meet the emergencies resulting from the recent storm and flood, as well as to provide funds for financing the normal fall and early winter crop and feed requirements of farmers who can establish eligibility, Mr. Burnside said. As in past years, these loans will be made to farmers whose cash needs are relatively small and who are unable to obtain from other sources the funds needed to meet their needs. Mr. Burnside pointed out that eligible farmers desiring to do so may apply now for loans to take care of their crop production needs for the entire 1946 season. Loans may include advances to the borrower to meet his cash requirements this fall, and the balance of the approved amount of the loan will be disbursed when the borrower needs it to finance his spring crops. Farmers who obtain loans for the production of cash crops, including funds for the purchase of seed for work stock and subsistence livestock, are required to give as security a first lien on the crops financed, and the security required for feed for the purchase or production of feed for commercial livestock is a first mortgage on the stock to be fed.

Mr. Burnside emphasized that these loans are not restricted to selected applicants but are available to all farmers who can establish eligibility according to the terms of the loan regulations and the authorizing act of Congress.

Bulloch County People Meet at Army Post

Wherever there is more than one Bulloch county citizen living in a radius of five miles, they seem to get together sooner or later. That's what happened at Fort McCallan, Ala., on December 5th when eight from Statesboro suddenly found themselves on the same army post. The result was a social party with dancing and bridge and a chance to catch up on the latest home town news.

Place cards were small bags of Bulloch county-grown peanuts. The group included Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mallard, Lt. and Mrs. Talmae Barr, Sgt. and Mrs. Cohen Anderson, Miss Christine Caruthers and Sgt. Aldrich Hagan. Gwendolyn and Ralph Mallard still feel that Statesboro is home, although they have lived in Anniston for seventeen years. Talmae, an officer in IRTC, and Frances have been stationed at McCallan for the past year. Cohen and Newell have been in Anniston for the past two and a half years. He is assigned to the IRTC headquarters furlough section. Chris is a medical social worker with the American Red Cross at the regional hospital, having arrived at McCallan in March. Aldrich has been assigned to the MP detachment for the past two years.

It is expected that Pfc. Belton Braswell, Capt. and Mrs. George Preston, and who are assigned to the IRTC, will be able to attend the next Statesboro party.

SOLDIERS RETURN TO ARMY SERVICE

After Brief Vacation Men Are Permitted to Go Back With Substantial Bonus

S/Sgt. Ben Bolden, Huntsville, Alabama Congressional Medal winner, re-enlisted in the army last week after being a civilian since July. Bolden decided to re-enlist in order to take advantage of his six years' seniority in the army, and mentally kicked himself for not rejoining the army before his twenty days had elapsed, which caused him to lose a re-enlistment bonus of $250.

In Atlanta, M/Sgt. Anthony P. Bartkiewicz, of Blackhear, Ga., re-enlisted after being a civilian for only two weeks. Bartkiewicz re-enlisted after comparing the $200 per month pay in the army with the $100 per month he was receiving as a civilian.

Le. Col. W. G. Burton, recruiting officer for Georgia, cited the above cases as typical of the reasons men are re-enlisting in the Regular Army in such great numbers.

Prominent Young Man Is Suddenly Stricken

Gordon Franklin, age 40, one of the community's most prominent young business men, died suddenly at his home in Statesboro at an early hour Tuesday morning, his death being ascribed to a heart ailment. In usual health upon retiring Monday night, he became ill during the night and early Tuesday morning was so serious that a physician was called. He died, however, before the arrival of the doctor. Besides his wife, Florence, Miss Sara Davis, of Atlanta, he is survived by three children; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Franklin, of Putnam, and two brothers, George, of Peluski, and Lehman, of Statesboro.

Coming to Statesboro five years ago, Mr. Franklin and his brother Lehman engaged in business as representatives of the Chevrolet company, and later took on other enterprises. They had recently acquired a block of business property on East Main street and were in process of beginning a building project for the housing of their growing business.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by Rev. L. E. Williams, former pastor of that church, and Elder J. Walter Hendrix, of Savannah. Honorary pallbearers were members of Mr. Franklin's Sunday school class. Interment was in East Side cemetery with Lanier's Mortuary in charge.

FLU EPIDEMIC HITS COUNTY SCHOOLS

Visiting Teacher Reports Noticeable Falling Off In Attendance Due To Sickness

In making a visit to the schools of Bulloch county the latter part of last week and this week, the visiting teacher, Miss Maude White, reports that she finds a drastic drop in attendance, as an outbreak of a dreaded throat disease and an influenza epidemic. The attendance was reaching a high peak and a perfect attendance campaign was being advocated, but now the visiting teacher encourages the pupils and teachers to be very careful, and at the first symptoms of a sick pupil, to isolate those complaining as early as possible.

Miss White urges the people of the county to stay away from picture shows, ball games and other gatherings, as much as possible until this epidemic can be stamped out. She begs the pupils to eat plenty of fruit and vegetables and to be very careful with their clothing during the winter months; wear plenty of clothing, but remove all wraps while inside warm rooms, but be sure to use them when necessary.

The visiting teacher is very anxious for a good attendance record, but says she feels it is more acute to avoid sickness as much as possible, and begs children to remain home if they are ill, because it is found that this "flu" is too contagious to risk being among well people, although she hopes that there is not one pupil in the Bulloch county schools that will take advantage of this excuse of being sick and stay out of school when it is not really necessary.

Miss White says, "We are doing the best we can with conditions as they are now, but there are great hopes of the best attendance records after the holidays."

MUSICAL FEATURE
FRIDAY EVENING

Teachers College Students Planning Program to Which Public Is Cordially Invited

An outstanding musical event of the season will take place on Friday evening, Dec. 14, at 8 o'clock, in the county auditorium, when the Georgia Teachers College Philharmonic Choir, under the direction of Dr. Ronald J. Neil, will present a gala Christmas concert.

The group of eighty college singers will be assisted by Miss Earle Epling, harpist, and Jack W. Broecker, clarinetist. Individual solos will be sung by Billy Holland, Richard Starr, Margaret Sherman, Hoke Smith and Barbara Anderson. The choir will be heard in a special grand arrangement of "Onward Christian Soldiers," assisted by a solo quartet made up of Betty Jones, Evelyn James, Hubert Kirby, and Richard Starr, an obligato of the three trumpets and a two-piano accompaniment. The Fred Waring arrangement of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," which the choir featured so successfully last season, will be repeated at this concert. Miss Epling will provide harp accompaniment and Mr. Broecker clarinet obligato for a group of unusual Christmas songs.

The program will close with the singing of familiar carols by the choir and audience. This event promises to be the finest ever given by the Teachers College group, and the public is urged to attend.

FEDERAL EMPLOY JOBS ARE OFFERED

Surplus Property Positions And Revenue Agents Place To Be Filled at Early Date

Some of the best United States civil service positions open are with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in surplus property disposal, and with the Bureau of Internal Revenue as revenue agents. D. B. DeLoach, of Statesboro, disclosed today. Veterans who can qualify are being sought particularly, but applications will be accepted from any men or women with suitable experience.

The surplus property positions are regional offices. The U. S. Civil Service is looking for $3,650 to $6,650 annually. Three or more years' experience in an organization engaged in designing, manufacturing or distributing such commodities as chemicals, metals, machinery, machine tools, paints, construction material or electrical equipment is required. At least one year's experience should be in quantity purchasing or sale of those items.

For positions as revenue agents, accounting experience is necessary. The work will involve auditing books and other records of taxpayers, businesses, or individuals to uncover income tax violations or black market operations. There are approximately twenty openings for revenue agents in Georgia and South Carolina at salaries of $2,000 and $3,500 annually, dependent on the length and type of previous experience.

Application forms and additional information may be obtained from the civil service secretary at any first or second-class postoffice. They should be submitted by mail to the Fifth Regional Office, U. S. Civil Service Commission, Atlanta, Ga.

Bryan Named Head Of Brooklet Bureau

T. R. Bryan Jr. was named president of the Brooklet community Farm Bureau for another year at the December meeting. A. J. Knight as secretary, W. W. Mann as vice-president, and W. Lee McElveen as treasurer were also elected to succeed themselves. One of group officers the Brooklet chapter has grown from some thirty members to 185 at the present time. Part of the business session of the December meeting was devoted to plans for a freer locker. Those present, some fifty members, expressed themselves as feeling that the community should have one and that they would support it in every way. However, the group thought it would be best for the plant to be privately owned. A committee was named to work with some individuals that probably would establish the locker plant.

Teacher Dixon, vocational agriculture teacher from Claxton, discussed the system that plant is set up on and some of the strong and weak points in it. He recommended they establish a private owned plant in connection with some business.

LOCAL CLUBSTERS SERVE VETERANS

Women of AAUW Studying Means by Which They Are Able to Give Assistance

"Are Bulloch county soldiers receiving the help a question that is their due?" was a question asked by A.A.U.W. members, Mrs. Charles Olliff and Mrs. Ralph Lyon were assigned to find out. This is the report they made Tuesday night.

When New Veteran Joe first arrives home he must report to the draft board, H. M. Robertson says that of the 2,146 men registered with the Bulloch county draft board, 733 had returned home by Dec. 7. Mr. Robertson advises Veteran Joe where to get help in carrying out his plans if he does not already have his next steps in mind.

Josh Lanier was interested in starting a new jewelry business. He was directed to a bank for business advice and a loan. The two banks report that about 45 loans have been made to veterans.

D. E. Gay wanted to buy a farm. After he and County Agent Byron Dyer looked around, they found a better proposition. Mr. Gay purchased a tractor and is successfully custom plowing in the Middleground section. Mr. Dyer and his county committee have helped four or five veterans to buy farms and some 25 veterans to locate on farms.

Curtis Stewart had been building air strips overseas with a bulldozer. He went to the U. S. Employment Service, where he was immediately placed at the throttle of a bulldozer on one of J. G. Ataway's road construction jobs. W. H. Armstrong reports that his office has located jobs for 130 local veterans during the past six months.

An office of the Veterans Administration has just been opened by Jack T. Hines. This is a contact office which will advise service men and women as to rights and will assist them in making applications.

The families of needy or troubled veterans are aided by the Red Cross, represented locally by Mrs. J. D. Fletcher. She has rendered service to 41 different ex-service men in the past four months.

Campaign Continues

Sale of Victory Bonds

The E. Victory Bonds purchased during December will count on the Bulloch county quota, says W. G. Cobb, county war finance chairman.

The loan drive ended December 8, but the program calls for smaller bonds through the month to be a part of the official drive.

Bulloch county has reported some $30,000 worth of E Bonds on the $144,000 quota to date. This is some 54 per cent of the quota and about 5 per cent advance of the state as a whole.

The bond sales as a whole on the total quota of $190,000 are exceptionally satisfactory in Bulloch county. Mr. Cobb reports more than $251,000 worth of bonds have been purchased in the county, putting the county well over the total quota. The E Bonds make excellent Christmas presents. Mr. Cobb pointed out, and many are always purchased for this purpose. If this practice is continued, the total will still reach the E goal.

Arnall and Heads To Let Lawmakers Decide

Not the legislature's leadership nor the Governor will decide how the state's new money will be spent, but the members of the general assembly themselves, in the January session.

Thus declared Governor Ellis Arnall, House Speaker Roy Harris and Senate President Frank Grogg following conference in regard to the approaching session. Arnall stated as follows:

"The senate's president, the House speaker and I are agreed on what things ought to be done, and on what we will recommend to the members of the general assembly. However, the members of the legislature themselves will decide on which items they want to spend money."

Beginning January 1, for two weeks, the legislators will confer in small groups with Arnall, Grogg and Harris, or until the 14-day session opens January 14th.
